NOAA'S MISSION

By ANDREW, DAVID, HECTOR, JOSHUA, AND LOC

Dr. Rosalie del Rosario came to speak to the Dolphin Times. Dr. del Rosario works for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

Dr. del Rosario told us about whales, their teeth, and their lower jaw. She taught us that the largest sea animal is the blue whale. The blue whale is a baleen whale, which does not have teeth.

We also learned about whales that have teeth. The sperm whale is the largest of the toothed whales and the largest toothed predator. A sperm whale has 20 to 26 pairs of cone-shaped teeth in their narrow, lower jaw. Each tooth is ten to 20 centimeters long and can weigh as much as one kilogram. However, the existence of teeth in sperm whales is a bit of a mystery as the teeth are not considered to be necessary for feeding on their primary food item, giant squid. Dr. del Rosario brought whale teeth for us to see and touch

She also brought boots made out of turtle skin and we touched them. We also touched turtle skin, and it felt rough but it was really interesting in the way it looked. It looked old, bumpy, and green.

Dr. del Rosario also spoke about the Hawksbill turtle. The Hawksbill turtle can live to 50 to 80 years. The Hawksbill's skin can make leather boots.

It is important to help endangered animals, make sure people don't kill them, keep them safe, and make sure their habitat is clean.

REACH SYMPOSIUM AT USC

By ANGIE R.

The Dolphin Times reporters attended the REACH Symposium for Kids at USC. We heard from three speakers, and one of the speakers was Ashok Deb. He told us that when we post things on social media, it may be read by others. He has a program that can find it, determine if it is important, and then read it later if it's important. If it's not important, he will just delete it.

The researchers at USC get posts from Musically, Snapchat, Instagram and more.

Ashok told us that when he was young he wanted to be in the military because his dad was in the military. He always wanted to be in the military his whole life.

Ashok asked us what we wanted to be when we grow up. There were a lot of different answers, including some who wanted to be scientists. I want to be a vet because I love animals like cats and dogs.

DO THE WRITE THING

THE WORLD IS IN YOUR HANDS

My favorite speakers at the REACH Symposium for Kids at USC were Nathalia Gochicoa and Roujin Khorramisavoji. Both are in the Masters program for Global Medicine.

They spoke to us about our carbon footprints. One thing they talked about was agriculture, which is also a part of our carbon footprint. Nathalia also shared with us that when animals use the restroom or pass gas, it can cause greenhouse gases.

Roujin told us that one way we can help the environment is by stopping waste. For example, finishing your drinks, food, and by not taking showers longer than five minutes.

There are seven categories in your carbon footprint. Electricity, air pollution, agriculture, water, transportation, waste, and other.

We also learned about transportation. Transportation is anything that takes you from one place to another.

Two things that power electricity are solar power, which is sun power and wind power, which is powered by wind.

By Telaysia F.

My favorite part about the presentation by Nathalia Gochicoa and Roujin Khorramisavoji was learning that we should not waste food, we should not litter, and we should use reusable water bottles. You need reusable water bottles because the plastic ones get thrown away and end up in the ocean.

When it goes in the ocean it makes fish sick, and if we eat it the fish that ate the plastic, we will get sick too. If we get sick we cannot learn and that is not good for our brains.

They also talked about not smoking because it is bad for your lungs. And they said that you need sunscreen every four hours to not have a sunburn.

Different ways to travel are riding a bike, walking, or an electric car. There are plenty of ways to travel around the world. That is what I learned.

By Teairia F.

My favorite speakers at the REACH Symposium at USC were Nathalia and Roujin. They spoke about electricity and agriculture and how to use them carefully.

Nathalia mostly spoke about water. If you do not turn the water off, you will keep running it and waste it.

They also talked about air pollution and transportation. They said that agriculture included cows and other things.

They said that you have to wear sunscreen everywhere and at the pool and the beach because if you do not put on sunscreen your body will be so hot.

They said that we should use electricity more carefully because if we do not use it carefully, we can be endangered.

They said that transportation is a bus, train and car. Transportation is a thing that we use to go somewhere.

By Janada W.

One thing that I learned from Nathalia and Roujin was that there is only 2.5% to 3% of fresh water of all the water in the world.

The second speaker, Ashok Deb, talked about his upbringing. He was born in Germany and he wanted to join the army, but his mom wanted him to become a doctor. Later on he joined the army.

Gabby Fernandez was the third speaker, and she talked about fake news. She showed us a picture that had a caption: "An 85-year old Got Arrested Because She was Using her Neighbors Cats for Fur Coats." Gabby told us ways to find out which is fake news.

By Andrew R.

CYBER SECURITY

Ashok Deb is a PhD student in the USC Engineering School. He told us that everyone can see everything you write on social media like Twitter, Snapchat, Facebook, Instagram, Musically, and Tumblr.

Ashok's dad was a military man. When Ashok was growing up all he wanted to be was a military man just like his dad.

Ashok gave us a lot of information and was the most interesting speaker. He asked everyone what they wanted to be when they grow up and when he got to me I said I wanted to be a vet.

By Kimberly R.

My favorite speaker was Ashok Deb. He watches people on the dark web.

Ashok always wanted to be in the military. He asked us what we wanted to be when we grow up.

I think USC was a great experience, and it was a big campus.

By Ethan C.

My favorite speaker was Ashok Deb, who is in the military, Ashok gave us a lot of information. His speech was very exciting and interesting.

Ashok talked about how he can see people's social media posts.

I liked the USC campus and it was big.

By Audrey J.

Ashok Deb's dad was born in India and his mom was born in Alabama. His dad went into the US army and Ashok wanted to be in the military just like his father. He has been in the Army for 16 years. He also told us his mom had some health problems and her heart stopped beating for 30 seconds.

Ashok asked me what I wanted to be when I grow up and I said I wanted to be a football player for the Denver Broncos

By Cristian L.

FAKE NEWS

Gabby Fernandez did a presentation on Fake News. Gabby talked about how there was a woman who made fur coats from her neighbor's cats, but this story was fake. This story was part of a man's fake news stories on the internet. Fake news can ruin people's reputation.

Gabby Fernandez does investigative reporting. This involves telling the truth about people who work in the government and other important people who attempt to keep their illegal actions a secret.

I found Miss Fernandez's fake news presentation to be the most interesting.

By David M.

My favorite speaker was Gabby Fernandez because she told us about how to check if news was real or not. She told us about how people wrote fake news for money.

She was the last speaker before we went for lunch. I liked the way she talked—not too fast and not too slow. Because she spoke just right none of us got bored. Since we got granola bars and we ate them while she was talking we also didn't get bored.

REACH SYMPOSIUM FOR KIDS AT USC

The Dolphin Times reporters attended the REACH Symposium for Kids at USC. REACH stands for wRiting, Engineering, Arts, Communication, and Health. The program was sponsored by PressFriends Inc., PressFriends at USC Club, USC Viterbi School of Engineering, USC Keck School of Medicine, USC Annenberg School for Communication, USC Dornsife Joint Educational Project, USC Office of the Provost, and USC Emeriti Center.

In the afternoon, we were treated to a performance by USC's premiere a cappella group, the SoCal VoCals. The SoCal VoCals have won five championships of the International Championship of Collegiate A Cappella groups, and the latest was the 2018 championship.

SAVE OUR MARINE LIFE

Dr. Rosalie del Rosario is a marine biologist with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, came to speak to Dolphin Times reporters about endangered Marine species.

Dr. del Rosario works at National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. She studies the ocean and the stars. She finds and studies animals and their body parts. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration found a round, heavy tooth. They are trying to figure out what ocean animal it is from.

Dr. del Rosario's coworker got a call and they said that they found a turtle on the ocean dead because it's shell got hit by a boat propeller. Turtles swim in the ocean with their hands, but if turtles do not swim they drop. Hawksbill turtles have a shell that felt kind of hard but also soft. Turtles swim so slowly but they lay eggs into a nest or clutch. The blue whale is the biggest sea creature in the world.

The whale teeth felt like a hard shell. The whale tooth was bigger than my hand. The baleen felt like a unstable type of plastic. In the past people used whale baleen as plastic. It is important to find ways to help marine animals. \ People illegally hunt down and kill sea lions, arctic sea lions, turtles, whales, and salmon.

One way to help these animals is by finding other ways and materials to make clothes. Another way is to be more cautious of what is left behind. Animals can choke or die on different things.

A difference must be made in what is done to the environment.

By Andrea, Ethan, Janada, and Telayia

Dr. del Rosario is from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, N.O.A.A. They protect endangered animals in the ocean.

Dr. del Rosario taught us about how people hunt and use sea creatures. She even showed us some examples. She showed us fur coats made out of seals, whale teeth and their baleen, and the steps to protect a baby salmon egg.

She taught about turtles. Turtles live in the sea, and boats accidentally run them over. People often find the turtle skeleton in the sand. Some people make boots with the turtle. One of the turtles she brought was a dead one. The animals she was talking about are from the sea.

Another animal Dr. del Rosario taught about is the seal. People make clothes out of seals, which is not good. A way to help any animal is to not harm them. For example, people kill sea turtles to make leather found on boots. They also harm baby turtles.

Dr. Rosalie del Rosario works at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. She is a marine biologist that helps take care of marine animals and endangered sea animals.

All the kids in the room got to touch some sea animals such as whales and more. The turtle was the best. The turtle was illegally captured and then the organs were taken out. There was a green turtle washed up on shore and it had three fish hooks stuck in its throat. When a ship was passing by it hit the turtle several times so it was living for a very long time with the hooks stuck inside of it.

Animals can be helped by less pollution. These little creatures are hunted illegally which is not good because they are another creature living on this planet. Another way to help is by keeping the ocean clean and stop others from polluting.

BOOK REVIEW: BOOK OF SHARKS

My favorite book is Sharks! The book was written by Anne Schreiber.

This book tells you a lot about sharks. Sharks have so many teeth you cannot count them all.

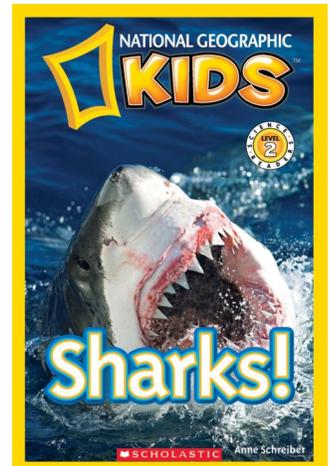

There is a tiger shark that got its name from the strips that make it look like a tiger. They swim fast. Tiger sharks swim at an average speed of 2.4 mph. They weigh more than 100 pounds. They are giant like a school bus. Tiger sharks are the most amazing sharks.

There are great white sharks all over the world. They are the largest predatory fish in the world and they have 300 teeth.

Sharks have sharp teeth and three fins.

BOOK REVIEW: LION AND THE MOUSE

The Lion and the Mouse is written and illustrated by Jerry Pickney.

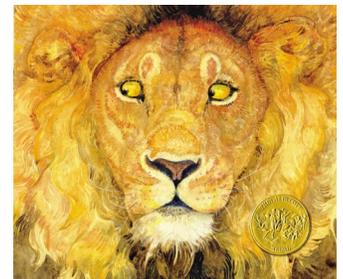

The lion first gets the mouse but lets him go. The mouse then saves the lion in this story because a hunter was trying to kill the lion for its fur. Then the mouse came and cut the rope to save the lion.

It is a story about bravery, courage, confidence, and being helpful to other people. It teaches you that helping others can give you confidence for sticking up for yourself.

BOOK REVIEW: FRINDLE

Frinkle is my favorite book. The author of Frindle is Andrew Clements. Frindle is children's literature.

The main character of the story is Nick. In the story, Nick's teacher makes him research where words come from. After the lesson, Nick wants to rename pens "frindles". All the classmates love his idea and call pens "frindles" for the rest of the day. However, the teacher is not happy. She thinks that giving pens a new name is disrespectful.

The rest of the story describes what happens as a result of Nick's new word creation. My favorite part of this book is when it is the end of the school year and everyone is happy. They all start screaming because school is out.

Frindle is my favorite book because I really like Nick as a person. He is always so nice to his friends, and he's always so happy.

My favorite character, though, is the pen. The pen is my favorite character because I like pens.

WHAT SCIENTISTS DO

Scientists learn about organisms. Organisms are living things. These scientists are called biologists. Biologists study living things to learn if they are dangerous or not. This helps people so that if they ever come across the animal, they will know and discover a cure.

Scientists that study rocks are called geologists. Geologists study obsidian, stone, crystals, and cobblestone. Geologists study these rocks in a laboratory. People use this information to build with rocks. Zoologists study animals such as foxes. Scientists have learned that foxes dig underground dens. These dens protect their kits from predators. Scientists are curious people who like to solve problems called experiments. Scientists do experiments to find a cure for a disease. Some diseases are caused by contaminated water. It is important to know how to stop the diseases.

HOW TO MAKE A NINJA STAR

Today we'll be learning how to make two ninja stars, single and a fidget ninja star.

To make a double-colored single ninja star, you'll need two pieces of paper that are different colors. You only need two materials for the single, which are the two pieces of paper and scissors.

Fold the two pieces of paper in half and unfold. Take the first part of the fold and fold it to the middle fold that cuts the two in half. Then do the same thing to the other. After that, fold those two folds to get one folded rectangle.

Next, fold that rectangle in half, then unfold it once again. On one half of the fold, fold it up to get a chimney shape. Do the same thing to the other one, but instead fold it down. Then, turn it over, and you should have two squares in different corners. Once you see them, fold the one at the bottom up into a triangle, then do the same thing to the upward side, but once again fold that one down.

Lastly, turn it around, or horizontally, and you should have a Z. Do the same thing to your other piece of paper, but when you are finished, they should be facing each other.

Once you have both ready, turn one over and you should have two triangles, but keep the other one as a Z. Make an X with the two, then bring the bottom part up into the triangle pocket. Then bring the upper part down into the second triangle pocket.

Lastly, turn it over and put the upper part down into one part, and open out the other part and put the lower one into it.

Then you have a single ninja star!

To make a fidget ninja star, poke a hole through the middle, cut a toothpick, and get two circles of cardboard. Glue those together to make your very own fidget spinner.

COMEDIAN OR ACTOR

Kevin Hart is a comedian just like me. When I grow up, I want to be like Kevin Hart too. I will get paid millions and millions of dollars. He is cool in Jumanji. I like when he plays in Secret Life of Pets, Captain Underpants, and Ride Along. He is in Hollywood movies and he does movies about his comedy shows and his career. That is why I want to be him one day, and get millions and millions of dollars.

Kevin Hart is the coolest person in the world. I want a big house like Kevin Hart. It will be bigger than Team 10's house. I will own a Ferrari, Lamborghini, and Honda. When I grow up, I am going to be the best comedian. I want to dress up like Kevin Hart.

If I do not end up as a comedian, I will be an actor. Kevin Hart's enemy is Katt Williams. He is better than Katt Williams. Katt Williams only got one Grammy Award and three BET Awards. I like Kevin Hart because he does not trash-talk. Also, Kevin Hart does not get mad when he messes up, but Katt Williams does.

Katt Williams forces his comedy.

FOOTBALL PLAYER

What I want to be when I grow up is a famous football player. It would be really cool to be a football player because you can get noticed and you can be good at a sport. Why I would like to be a famous football player is because football is my favorite sport. It is a really good active sport to play. You get to go against different teams and you can get to go to the Super Bowl.

If I ever become a football player I would be a wide receiver. You earn a good amount of money. What I would do with that money is help out my family for whatever they would need. I've always wanted to be a football player since I was a little kid.

What I would do to become a famous football player is practice to become good. I would try to find a place to sign up and work up to when I'm an adult and go to a good college. If I make it to college I would play college football and then when I'm done with college and graduate, I would try and make it to the NFL (National Football League).

ACTING SCIENTIFIC

When I grow up I want to be two things, an actor and a scientist. I want to be an actor because of a director named Stephen King. He inspired me to be an actor because he makes horror movies that are realistic and you will never know if you're going to be that person one day. In order to be an actor you have to practice your lines every day and you need to practice your acting skills.

I also want to be a scientist because you can solve problems. They use their eyes to spot details, their nose to detect if something is stinky, their hearing, touch, and even sense of taste. Also, they like to learn about living organisms, which is called biology. Other scientists like to study rocks and they are called geologists. Lastly, scientists who study animals are sometimes called zoologists.

ARTIST

I want to be an artist when I grow up. Art helps me relax and not feel so alone. I am an only child so I should get a lot of attention, but my mom goes out a lot so I feel so alone. I have a grandma and a grandpa, but they are not that young.

I personally like drawing people, YouTubers, and famous people. I will ask my mom to give me some money so that I could get into a good school. I mostly like drawing Erika Costell in a sweater that says Team 10 on it. I also like to draw Tessa Brooks with a long pretty dress that has sparkles, and if you look closely, you can see that it has Team 10 inside of the sparkles. In my opinion, Erika Costell is prettier than Tessa Brooks, but people have different opinions.

I want to be a artist because when I feel alone it helps me not feel so sad.

YOUTUBER

There are many jobs in the world, but I want to be a YouTube star when I grow up! I want to be a YouTuber star because you can get awarded with money and play buttons.

I would like to challenge people that are making videos like Pewdiepie, Logan Paul, and Jake Paul.

First, a YouTuber would make an account, then they will make a video and tell their friends that they have a video. Then they'll watch it and make views and subscribe to you.

Next, you have to make more of the videos that you make and someday you'll get many subscribers.

Finally, if you get tons of subscribers you could possibly get a play button that you get awarded with.

One of the play buttons is the ruby play button, and it is the most valuable one.

When you get used to it, you might have tons of fans and even make vlogs. You might also possibly be like Pewdiepie, Logan Paul, and Jake Paul and you may also pass in subscribers.
