Helping Stop Pollution

By Monica H.

Have you ever just packed up your car to go the beach and spent an hour getting there? Just to find that it was closed due to pollution? Well, that actually happens to a lot of people! And, do you know who could have caused that? People! Because they were too lazy to put a bottle in the recycling bin that was just three feet away. But, no! They had to go and throw the too-good-for-the-recycling-bin bottle into the ocean instead. And, now the ocean is polluted!

But, back to the main point. You know the saying, "What goes around, comes

Global Health Symposium for Kids

By Braden C.

PressFriends and Keck Global Health held the Global Health Symposium for Kids at USC.

We went to four different workshops. One was about clean drinking water and food, and it included examples of good food, bad food, bad water, and good water. The other workshops were about pollution, human rights, and refugees.

The Symposium gave us great food at lunch. They gave us big sandwiches, apples, Ruffles, and water. Overall, the Symposium was awesome. All the PressFriends' students learned a lot about global health problems. .

Bullies are Meanies

By Monica H.

Have you ever been bullied before? Well, so have a lot of people. The truth is maybe you could be a bully too! Ask yourself these questions. Have you ever called someone a name or a bad word? Have you ignored someone when they're clearly trying to get your attention? And lastly, have you ever hurt someone or even beaten someone up? If you said yes to any of these questions and you do these often, then you are a bully! Now, some of you may have answered "yes," but think that you are not bullies, but these are things that bullies do! But, the truth is, bullies can do much worse!

Bullies just can't keep making life miserable for others. If you are bully, you seriously need to stop. And for Pete's sake, please stop with it, it's even on a lot of television shows! A lot of people have gotten hurt because of being bullied physically and mentally.

Just in case you want to go from bully to friend, here are some pointers: If someone drops something, you should pick it up. If you see someone bullying someone else, you should tell on the bully (You may feel like a tattler, but it will be worth it. Oh and if someone says, "Hey, I was just kidding, what you can't take a joke" don't fall for it, they always say that.). And if you find yourself getting bullied, that is where it gets tricky.

First of all there are two types of bullies. One type is the ones that just do it for fun and try to act tough. The other type is that they were bullied themselves.

Now, there are also different ways to deal with bullies.

"I think you should ignore the bully." is fifth grader Angela P's way to deal with bullies.

"My way is to stand up to a bully" says Keilani L., who is in the fifth grade too.

In conclusion, bullies are real. You have to remember that you're not alone. With the help of friends and adults you can find help for yourself and the bully. Now, when you see someone facing a bully, you can help them instead of just looking on at the situation or looking away.

Be A Friend

By Diana M.

When you are mean to people, they will not want to be your friend. If you don't want to be friends with someone at least be nice. If you are kind to others, they will be kind to you in return.

You need your friends to help you in tough situations and to talk to when you have a bad day. Being a friend means not saying mean things to each other and not judging by what the other person has. If someone doesn't listen, it's not a good idea to be their friend. If someone doesn't want to be your friend, just walk away. It's better not to listen to something mean people are trying to tell you.

When you and your friend are not getting along, it is better to find an adult to help out and solve your problem. They always have the best ways to fix these things. Remember it is okay for friends to get into arguments, but it is not okay to tell a friend that you will never be their friend again.

Don't forget that friends are always there to help each other out.

Ian Chen

IAN CHEN

By Eduardo E.

Ian is in his first year in the Global Health Masters' Program at USC. Ian decided to study global health because disease is not limited to any one country.

Ian's undergraduate degree was from Washington University in St. Louis.

Ian is focusing on tuberculosis in the Global Health program. Ian chose this area because it has been a part of his life.

Ian would like to be a doctor after he graduates. The most important global health issue today is maternal and child health.

By Terrell H.

Ian Chen went to school at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri. He is studying tuberculosis. He spoke about pollution, because it has been a part of his life. When he graduates, he wants to be a doctor.

By Diana M.

Ian Chen started the USC Global Health Masters program in 2015, and he went to Washington University in St. Louis prior to attending USC.

Ian studied to get where he is. He believes that medicine is important, and that medications should not be wasted. He wants to focus on tuberculosis.

Ian wants to be a doctor, and he hopes to specialize in maternal and child health.

Ian liked being interviewed, and he got the idea of attending the USC Global Health program from his mom. He would eventually like to practice medicine in lots of different countries.

ASHA LINDSEY

By Genesis V.

Asha Lindsey is in her first year of the Masters degree Global Health program. She studies medical travel and culture. She went to Spellman College and studied Spanish for her undergraduate degree.

Asha's presentation focused on studying food and water. She wanted to teach us to make healthier choices. She taught us about food and water security. She knows a lot about food and water, and I liked the way she gave her presentation. She also talked about desserts, junk food, and sodas that contain sugar.

By Emily, Joshua, Cesar, and Josselyn

Asha Lindsey is a student at USC in the Global Health program. Asha is in her first year in the Global Health program. She is interested in food and water safety, and she is interested in this because she wants to show kids the importance of food and water safety.

Asha told us that she likes to interact with students. She wants to be an obstetrician. An obstetrician is a person who delivers babies.

Asha intends to accomplish a lot in the next ten years. She wants to finish graduate school and medical school and then wants to start delivering babies.

On top of all of this, we learned that Asha is a very nice person. Students had a lot of fun and learned a lot.

By Henry

Asha is in her first year of the Global Health program, and she loves it. In the Global Health program, she is focusing on food and water. She believes that they are an important part of life.

After Asha graduates from the Masters program in Global Health, she wants to go to medical school. She wants to go to medical school so that she can work in a delivery room delivering babies. She wants to deliver babies because she believes that child health is the most important global health issue today.

To learn about global health, it helps to study food and water security. Her biggest help during her time studying food and water security was her mom. Her mom told Asha to follow her dreams.

who were presenters in the Global Health Symposium for Kids? Let's find out about one of the presenters, Niloo Kossari.

Niloo is a first year student in Global Health studies at USC. She decided to study global health because she wants to be a doctor, and she thinks it is important to know about global health in order to be a good doctor.

Niloo was an undergraduate at USC where she studied biology. She wants to focus on clinical medicine. At the symposium, she spoke about refugees and internally displaced people. Niloo spoke about this today because she thinks it is important.

Niloo would like to go to medical school when she graduates. There are many different global health issues in the world today. Niloo thinks that access to food and water is a huge problem.

The person who influenced her most is her uncle. He is a doctor.

If someone is interested in studying global health, he/she could study anything as long as he/she works hard.

In the next ten years, Niloo wants to accomplish a lot. She wants to acquire the knowledge and education to help as many people as she can.

Overall, Niloo was a pleasure to interview, and she was an incredible speaker. Niloo loved working with PressFriends.

ROXANA TABRIZI

By Jazmin C.

Roxy Tabrizi was a speaker at the Global Health Symposium for Kids. Roxy wants to be a doctor.

Roxy misses her best friends who live in San Diego. She felt weird when she started the Masters program for Global Health and moved into a new place in August, but the people she met were nice to her. She likes to study in the library.

Roxy's favorite thing is teaching kids. Her favorite sports are volleyball, basketball, and tennis. Her favorite color is hot pink.

Roxy met Niloo Kossari in the Global Health program, and they often partner together on projects.

By Kristy P.

Roosevelt Times reporters had a great time at the Global Health Symposium for Kids at USC.

We met Roxy, who was one of the speakers. The Roosevelt Times asked her, "How did you get in to USC?"

Roxy said that she got in by getting good grades.

The Roosevelt Times asked her about her favorite color, and we discovered her favorite color is hot pink.

Roxy's favorite thing about USC is that there are lots of nice people. She met Niloo Kossari in the Global Health program when they were working together on an essay about helping the Earth.

Before Roxy came to USC, she was at UCLA.

By Ofelia G.

Roosevelt Times reporters had a very good time at USC at the Global Health Symposium for Kids. We met Roxy, one of the speakers.

When Roxy was 3 or 4, she played volleyball, basketball, and tennis. She has two sisters. Her favorite color is hot pink. Her best friend lives in San Diego.

Roxy takes three classes at USC. She makes good grades. She loves to work with kids. She lives in a dorm. She said the people she has met in the Global Health program are so sweet. She likes them. She met a girl named Niloo in the program.

Extinction Problems

By Emily R. and Erika S.

Animals are a part of our environment, but they are facing a lot of manmade problems. It has reached a point that they are dying out. Extinction is when a certain animal gets killed and has no more of its kind left.

Tigers are in danger! There are many reasons why these animals are becoming extinct and their numbers are getting very low. For example there are about 100 tigers left in Bangladesh. People kill animals for sport and because they are seen as trophies.

Second, hunters are going to the African jungle and rainforest to kill animals, because, in those countries, hunting these animals is often allowed and they are hardly even punished for it. The hunters are killing animals that are rare to see in the wild, like tigers, ox, elephants, rhinos, monkeys, and hippos.

Third, people hunt in July which is hunting season. Hunting season is when people buy tickets and have permission to hunt.

Next, people are destroying animal's natural habitats and building homes where animals make their homes. For example, animals that are endangered because of house building like the giant panda in China. Another animal is the gorilla, and Asian elephants, who are facing extinction.

We need to take action in order to save these amazing animals, because losing any of these animals affects the ecosystem. It is important for everyone to take part in speaking up for these animals, so future generations can see and enjoy them.

Cancer

By Angela P.

Have you ever heard of the sickness called cancer? Well, cancer has been around for thousands of years. Cancer is all around the world.

Many people have this sickness—even kids. Cancer has caused people to die all around the world.

People who have cancer go through pain, and many other things.

What causes cancer you might ask? We don't know all the reasons yet, but one reason is smoking, eating certain foods, and genetics. Cancer can affect many parts of your body. Also, there are many different types of Cancers like, Lung cancer, breast cancer, and many others. Cancer is a big problem in our world.

The solution for cancer is giving money to the researchers so they can study ways to better understand cancer and maybe someday to figure out how to best treat it. Today many doctors prescribe chemotherapy, surgery, and radiation. Many people have donated to cancer. There are also programs to help raise money. There is one program called Make a Wish.

Many families have had family members who have cancer or who have had gone through cancer. Many people try to stop cancer. People work on the computers for research. Cancer researchers still have not found a cure to help them. Who knows when they will find the cure?

I want TK

By Angela P., Devinia L., and Alyza A.

What is TK, you might ask? TK is transitional kindergarten, or as many people know, a class for kids born in September through December.

The famous Mrs. Wright who used to teach 3rd grade is now teaching TK. This will be her 41st year teaching different grades in multiple schools. She has taught grades starting from kindergarten through 3rd grade and now TK. Hoping to continue her years at FDR to grow in her teaching career, she has been teaching at FDR for 19 years. She has about 25 students, and they are all ready to learn. You can find her in room 20 at the end of the hallway to the left.

Even though she has taught multiple grades, Mrs. Wright enjoys TK the most. She stated that teaching TK is a challenge, yet it's going well. There is always a new challenge every day.

We thank Mrs. Wright for letting us interview in her classroom. Mrs. Wright has taught us many things. She thought that the most important thing she taught us was "No matter what the challenge is or how old you are, you can solve anything."

Hopefully you can go visit her and her students in her classroom.

Hip Hip Hooray

By Kristy P.

Being a cheerleader is not an easy thing. It takes a lot of practice. You need to practice every day, you need to pay close attention to your steps, and you need to make sure you cheer really loud.

Getting into your position is not an easy thing either; and working with the rest of squad is required. Teamwork is a big part of cheer.

In FDR during the fall, students had a cheer club, Mrs. Yessi was the person in charge of it. Mrs. Yessi, really liked cheer a lot because it gave her the chance to see a different side of the students.

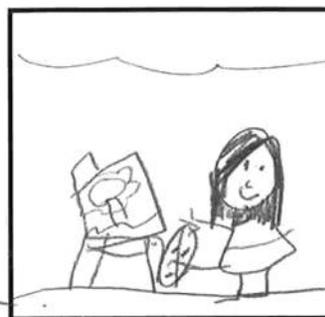

The name of the cheer squad was "Pump It Up!" There were 28 students who were part of the club. There only girls in Pump It Up.

Jazmin C., a 3rd grader who was part of Pump It Up, said that "It was awesome because you get pom poms!"

There were 5 different routines, which were made by students. If you like to move around and like to be louds, then give cheer a chance. You can join a cheer squad at the RAP afterschool program or at an outside program.

A School Day in Northern Ireland

By Evelina M., PressFriends Foreign Correspondent

I live on the shores of a lake called Lough Neagh in the beautiful county of Derry in Northern Ireland. I live in a stone house built by my father many years ago. My home is situated inside a nature reserve and is surrounded by miles and miles of green fields.

My school day starts when my mum wakes me at 7.30 a.m. My big sister and I get dressed and have breakfast. When my dad was small, he walked to school but nowadays there are so many cars on the road driving so fast that my mum has to take me to the local bus stop. The school bus takes half an hour picking up my friends one by one.

We arrive at school at 9 and my school day begins with registration. Throughout the day, my form class all go to the same classes together. There are 30 pupils in my class, half boys and half girls. My favorite class is home economics because I get to make lots of nice food.

Lunchtime comes at 12 and we all meet in the canteen where we scan our fingers, which identifies us and deducts the money owed from our school account.

The main sports here are Gaelic football, a bit like rugby, and Camogie, which is a bit like field hockey. We have a big rivalry with other schools and it's very special when we win.

My school day ends at 3.40 and we run across the road to buy sweets but get back just in time to catch the school bus home.

Travel Review: France

By Braden C.

France is a wonderful place to visit during the holidays.

In France you can do lots of stuff like eat good ice cream at an ice cream shop. In France, they have very different ice cream flavors, like vanilla bourbon. You can also go and visit fun places like the Louvre and Musee d'Orsay museums.

An area of France that you should visit is Brittany. Brittany is the northeast region of France. In Brittany you can find a lot of people walking around. There are a lot of forest and less freeways in Brittany.

In France you can eat a lot of unique and different good food, like for breakfast you can have a baguette with butter and some salt. During lunch you can have an omelet with steak and some ketchup. Your dinner may be a small meal like a sandwich with baguette bread.

If you ever happen to plan a trip to Europe, give France a thought, especially the region of Brittany. There are many beautiful villages in Brittany. You will have a great experience and a lot of fun with your family.

To Infinity and Beyond — CA Science Center

By Monica H.

Have you ever thought that museums are boring? Did you always skip a field trip to museum of science or art because you thought they were too boring? Yes? Then if you keep reading you will learn that not everything about museums are boring!

If you ever go to the Science Center in downtown LA, then you should beg your parents to visit the museum. This museum is not like the others, it is very fun and you can interact with a lot of things, and even play with some!

There are different exhibits that are very fun and they will even help you understand the things you need to know about space.

The Journey to Space exhibit is a lot of fun and very educational, but in an exciting way. One activity in the Journey to Space (which is a very dizzy ride) is one thing a lot of people like. It turns around and tells you about how there is no gravity in space. The walls rotate around, it made some of the people dizzy. There is an exhibit that you can control a miniature rocket and then shoot it up through its tube! You can even control the pressure to see how high it goes. This exhibit is very interesting and a lot of people recommend it.

Well, what are you waiting for? Go ask your parents if you can go!

The California Science Center is located at 700 Exposition Park Drive, Los Angeles, CA 90037.

Soak in the Fun — Soak City

By Jazmin C.

Living in California is all about sunshine. We are lucky to have warm weather, because Soak City is a place where you can spend time with your entire family.

In Soak City there are many things you can do like get wet, eat food, go to the mini stores, and go on big rides.

There are many different rides your family can choose from. If you like extreme rides, you will like rides like Pacific Spin, Old Man Falls, or Laguna Storm Water Tower. These rides have huge slides, and they can be kind of scary.

If you want to take it easy try Sunset River or tidal wave bay. These rides help you relax.

At Soak City they have different restaurants where you can eat. They offer burgers, hot dogs, and pizza, so everyone in the family can eat what they want.

Remember to stop by Soak City shops to buy cool souvenirs, so your family can remember their trip. You can get everyone clothes or different cool things.

Soak City will be opening their doors on May 14th, they have great deals where you can visit Knott's and Soak City.

Soak City is located at 8039 Beach Blvd, Buena Park, CA 90620.

Super Segways

By Terrell H. and Kai R.

Segway makes hoverboards that you can ride. There are many different colors. You can get the hoverboard customized in different shapes and colors.

The Segway hoverboard is almost like a skateboard. It only has two wheels. The Segway hoverboard is heavy, so you should be very careful with it. You have to have to charge the board for 2 hours.

A hoverboard will cost you around $300 to $500. You can use them to go down hills or on flat ground. Boys and girls can ride it. There are front and back. Hover boards are dangerous if you have it on the charger for too long. When using a Segway hoverboard you will need safety gear, like a helmet.

These boards are very fun but check with your principal before bringing a hoverboard to school. Many schools don't allow them on campus for safety reasons.

Prehistoric Cat

By Christian G.

Saber-tooth tigers were big and bad cats. These big carnivores were heavy animals. They did not have long tail like most big cats have. They also had short hair, brownish hair.

Saber-tooth tigers lived in packs to take down larger animals, like a woolly mammoth. They hunted at night when their prey was sleeping.

When saber-tooth tigers had babies, they were really protective. When another animal got close to their babies they would attack them with their canine teeth no matter if it is the fight to the death.

If a member from a pack got attacked they would defend them. They would use their extremely sharp claws to swipe their prey.

These big cats lived 10,000 BC, at the time cave-men lived. Their favorite food was deer, bison, and the woolly mammoth.

Saber-tooth tigers were located in the Midwestern United States, and North and South America. If you are interested in seeing a saber tooth cat, you should visit the Natural History Museum.

Cristiano Ronaldo

By Jazmin C.

If you like soccer a lot then you should know about Cristiano Ronaldo. He is very famous in the world of soccer. Cristiano has very cool moves on the soccer field, and he is currently playing for the Spanish league with Real Madrid. Cristiano scored his 500th senior career goal.

He is also the team captain for Portugal. In 2015 he was named the best Portuguese player of all time. He is the first player to win four European Golden Shoe awards.

With Manchester United and Real Madrid, Ronaldo has won three Premier Leagues, and still continues to gain more awards.

Many kids watch videos about Cristiano Ronaldo, where he is playing other teams and see his foot work. Cristiano Ronaldo is a good role model, and every kid who likes soccer looks up to him.

Girls Rule! Boys not so much

By Josselyn F. and Keilani L.

Have you ever watched Teen Titans, Go? Well, it's an animated TV comedy about five teenagers who are super heroes. They all have unique names and powers.

Cyborg is half robot and half person. He is very silly. Starfire shoots lasers from her eyes and most of the time she is very nice. She is from another planet. Raven has dark magic because her dad is a demon and once tried to turn her mean but she refused. Beast Boy is very funny because he does lots of silly things. Last, but not least, Robin has no powers, but he worked for Batman and is the leader.

This comedy is silly because something always goes wrong, whether it is little or big.

Raven has the most feelings, and because she has dark magic, she is usually in a bad mood but sometimes she is very nice.

Beast Boy and Cyborg like to play video games and do silly stuff. For example, once they chanted “waffles” for the whole day.

Starfire is sweet and loves everyone no matter what. Once she got two pets and when she kissed them they turned evil, but they all defended them. Starfire kissed them again and they all said “not again” and turned back into little pets.

Robin is the controlling one because he is the leader and wants them to be the perfect team.

Overall they are a good team even though sometimes they lose. You can watch this show on Cartoon Network at 6:00pm or 7:30am. View this show, and you will enjoy it!

In It to Win It

By Jaylen N., Keilani L. and Angela P.

Have you ever heard of the reality show Dance Moms? In this reality TV show, the dancers are in it to win it. Everybody is against each other to impress the crazy dance coach Abby Lee Miller.

The dancers and moms are Nia and her mom Holly, Maddie and Mackenzie and their mom Melissa, Kendall and her mom Jill, and Kalani and her mom Kira.

The reason why Abby is crazy is because she always wants to win at all of the dance competitions. If the dancers don't win, Abby gets mad and throws a huge fit, and that's when the drama starts. The dancers cry, the moms get mad at Abby for yelling, but at the end they become a real team again and decide to forgive each other.

Maddie is Abby's favorite and sometimes Maddie's sister Mackenzie feels sad that her mom didn't help her become Abby's favorite.

The moms also get mad at each other. One reason is because they talk about each other's daughters. It is also because they insult each other and set a bad example for their daughters.

But at the end they all become friends. As a result Dance Moms is fun to see and to watch. You can tune in to Netflix to watch all the seasons, and watch new seasons on Lifetime.

Movie Review: Descendants

By Keilani L., Zariah H.

Disney channel made a television movie musical about the children of Disney fairy tale characters and called it Descendants. This movie is mostly about the children of Disney villains.

Ben, the son of King Beast and Queen Bell, invited the most evil villain's children from the Isle of the Lost for his first declaration as King. He invited Mal, daughter of Maleficent, Evie, daughter of the Evil Queen, Jay, son of Jafar, and finally Carlos, son of Cruella De Vil. All four of them live on the Isle of the Lost, and little did they know that they were going to have to steal a wand from the Fairy Godmother or even go to Aradon Prep school.

Mal, daughter of the one and only Maleficent, is played by Dove Cameron. Evie is played by Sofia Carson, Jay is played by BooBoo Stewart, and Carlos is played by Cameron Boyce. When they first came to the Isle of the Lost their minds were set to "Take that wand!" But at that time they were under the evil influence of their parents.

At the Coronation, they figure out that they want to be good, and that they want to go to school. The most important thing is that Mal learned that she could love.

Descendants was all about the things that Mal and the gang learned, and how they changed. Mal can now love, Jay does not steal anymore, Evie is LESS conceited, and Jay loves his dog! This is a fun show to watch.

Video Game Review: Ball in Game

By Chinonso A.

NBA 2K16 is a video game for those who cannot get enough basketball. There are 30 teams in the game and there are bonus teams as well.

You can play with your favorite players like Stephan Curry, LeBron James, Chris Paul and many more. You can even make your own team with any players you want.

This game is very realistic, like if you were watching it from your television. For example, you can see the players sweat, shot form, dunks, and crossovers.

Up to four players can play. You can also play other people online if you think you're that good.

You can find this game for every major system like for PS4, Xbox One, and PS3.

NBA 2K16 is available wherever video games are sold. The game will cost you about $59.99, so you need to save up your money.

Everyone who enjoys basketball should buy this game, because it has good graphics and the players look very real.

This is a game where the whole family can play and have fun.

around?" Well, the meaning of that saying is that you can't do something without being impacted by it.

Let's say that you dump some toxic waste in the ocean. You don't care, because you think it doesn't hurt you. Well, let's say that a fish eats it, and this fish is caught by a fisherman. A restaurant buys the fish from the fisherman, and the restaurant serves the fish to you!

That's only one reason why you shouldn't pollute anywhere!

Restaurant Review: Lomeli's

By Joshua C. & Daisy C.

Lomeli's is a great place for families to go eat. When you first see Lomeli's, you will notice that it is in a plaza. It does not look too special because it is really white and there are no windows to look into.

Inside Lomeli's, you can find televisions to watch sports, a lot of Italian art, and you can hear all kinds of music. They serve Italian food, so you know it must be really good. You can find ravioli, pizza of many varieties, spaghetti, and all kinds of pasta, soups, salads, and sandwiches.

Lomeli's also serves kids meals. You can get Mac and cheese, cheeseburgers, chicken nuggets, pepperoni or cheese pizzas, and spaghetti. If you order the spaghetti, you can add meatballs that are really big, and also different types of toppings.

Going to Lomeli's is not that expensive, and they have really good deals. You should give Lomeli's a try, especially the ravioli and the pizza.

Restaurant Review: Buffet for All

By Cesar O.

Everyone likes a home cooked meal, but sometimes you would like something different.

HomeTown Buffet is different from the meal you may have at home. This restaurant is all-you-can-eat, but you need to get it yourself. At HomeTown Buffet they offer a lot of different foods like:

chicken, pizza, shrimps, mac and cheese, salads, tacos, delicious veggies, and lots of desserts.

You can find HomeTown all over the place; they have many locations. When you are done with your meal, you can get your own dessert like ice cream, cookies, brownies, pudding, and cakes.

HomeTown Buffet is a great place for the whole family to enjoy. Everyone can get whatever food they want. You can get breakfast during the weekend too. If your family is hungry, and can't pick a place, then go to HomeTown Buffet; they may have everything your family wants.

Restaurant Review: Famous Star

By Christopher S.

If you want a burger you should visit Carl's Jr. They have all kinds of burgers waiting for you.

Inside of each restaurant there are a lot of tables, and it looks like an old burger place with pictures from when it was first started.

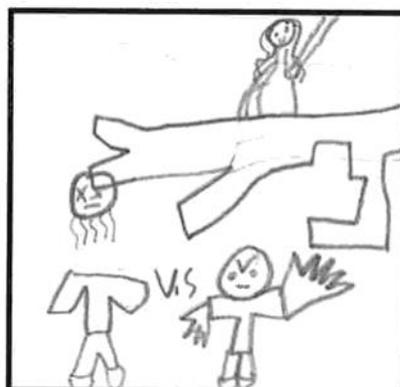

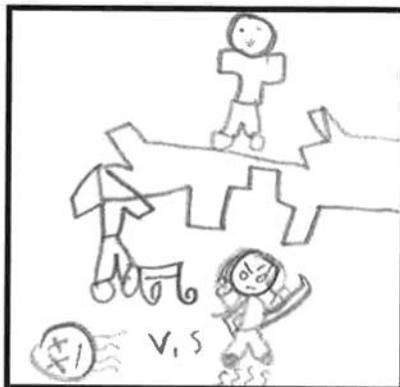

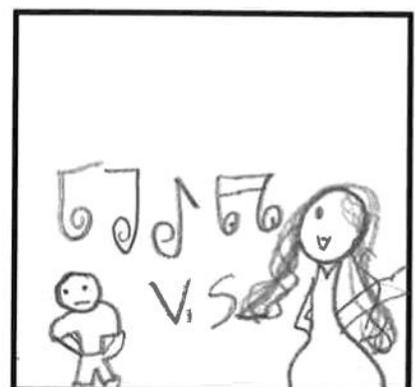

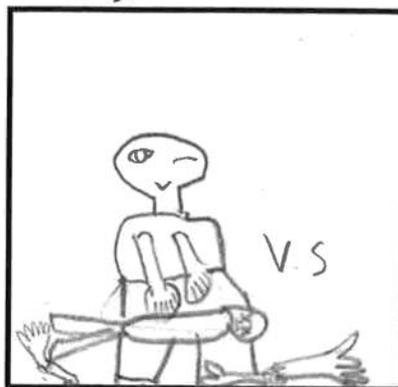

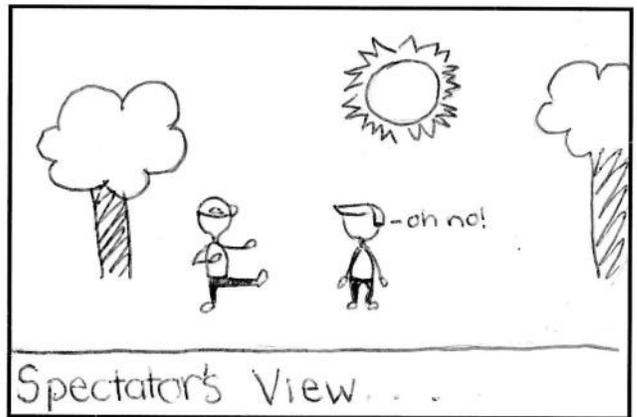

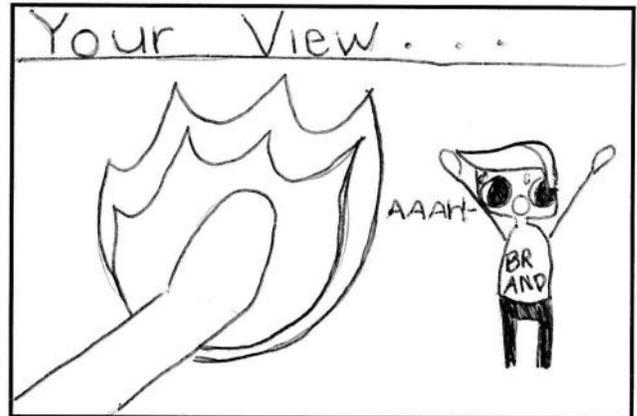

They have cheeseburgers, hamburgers, and chicken sandwiches. These burgers are pretty big and delicious. They also serve them with fries. There are three different kinds of fries: regular, curly and waffle fries.

If you don't feel like a burger they also serve salads and some serve Mexican food such as burritos and tacos.

They also have many kinds of desserts like milk shakes. You can also get yourself an Oreo ice cream cookie and different kinds of cookies. You can find Carl's Jr. Pretty much everywhere, just look for their famous star logo. So if you're hungry stop by one and you will enjoy your meal.

RAP Roundup

By Abraham Hernandez, RAP Program Leader and Roosevelt Times Advisor

This year, many new things are taking place within FDR and the RAP program. All these new changes bring forth great new experiences for all of these hungry reporters to write about. With all the new and ongoing ideas your teachers and Dr. Appell have in store, we are having a great year.

The same can be said about RAP. New and old favorite clubs — such as tennis, rock band, color guard, and cheer.

Clubs change every trimester so you can try a lot of different ones.

Also another year of fun and interactive Mind-Works, where students use science to explore the world around them.

Big thank you to Press Friends who provides awesome mentors for students who take part in Roosevelt Times Club.

Without them, making writing fun would not be possible.

Also a big thank you to all the students who took the time to write all of these amazing articles, I can't wait to see what new articles they are brainstorming for the next issue.

The Roosevelt Times and PressFriends would like to thank

Supervisor Mark Ridley-Thomas and the LA County Board of Supervisors for supporting our program

Masters Program in Global Health at USC and Dr. Elahe Nezami and her students for putting on the Global Health Symposium for Kids

Principal Denise Appell

for her support and

Mr. Abraham, Ms. Elena, and all the staff at RAP
